Why Keep Your Identity Protection Coverage?

Your identity protection coverage can be transferred to ensure uninterrupted monitoring and recovery support, keeping your personal information secure.

Prevent Identity Theft

Identity theft can occur at any time, and without coverage, you may be left to handle the financial and emotional burden on your own. Continued coverage helps safeguard against unauthorized use of your personal information.

Ongoing Monitoring

With identity protection, your credit, personal information, and financial accounts are constantly monitored. This gives you peace of mind knowing that possible suspicious activity will be flagged in real time.

Restore Your Identity

If you ever fall victim to identity theft, having protection helps ensure that professionals are ready to assist you in restoring your identity and minimizing damage.

Convenience

Transitioning your coverage means you don't have to start over. You'll maintain the benefits of a proven service that has already been protecting you during your time with us.

Protection Beyond Employment

Identity theft can happen whether you're employed or not, and keeping your coverage active will help protect you throughout your career and personal life.
